Fellowship Trained Breast Radiologists

A recent study showed that women who had their mammogram read by a general radiologist not specializing in breast imaging had a 51% change in the interpretation and management when they got a second opinion by a fellowship trained breast radiologist. Patients typically have no control on whether a fellowship trained breast radiologist or a general radiologist is reading the mammogram. At Imaging for Women, we only have fellowship trained breast radiologists reading the exams. Patients get the attention of a specialist without big hospital costs.

We'll take care of you!

It's hard to believe that we are already approaching the halfway point of summer. As the days start to get a little shorter, our work days start to get a little longer. With fall approaching, we are preparing for the rush that always accompanies breast cancer awareness month and we are also preparing for our annual Breast Cancer Survivor Celebration, which will be held on Friday, September 21st this year.

Each year in late September, we host a party to celebrate all of our breast cancer survivors. The party has hors d'oeuvres, desserts, and a variety of drink options, including a champagne toast. Survivors and guests are welcome to attend. We conclude the event with a symbolic butterfly release where each survivor releases her own butterfly. It is the highlight of the day and something patients greatly enjoy. As always, all referring providers and their staff are welcome.

Please contact marketing@imaging4women.com if you would like to contribute in any way. All are welcome to join in on the celebration.

We Want to Hear from You

We would love to schedule a time to meet with your physician team! We want to know how we can serve you better.

What can we do to make your practice operations easier? Tell us!

Dr. Voeltz and Dr. Zupon would love to meet with our referring physicians. We know your daily schedule is always full; however, if we could bring lunch and have an informal meeting, we would love to do this.

Please call Phyllis Fulk (our office administrator) on her direct line at 816/268-3309 to schedule a time for us to meet your team. Never heard of Imaging for Women?
